 MLS Management
Leadership & Support

Welcome

to MLS-Management and our broadband consulting and services portfolio.

"Shaping change successfully".

That's probably the biggest challenge corporate leaders in the digital world have with their volatile markets. You have to be in the right place tomorrow: right at the front, on the side of your customers and their needs. "

In our role as consultants, we see ourselves as

- an appreciative listener,
- as an encouraging source of ideas and inspiration
- as well as an experienced process assistant.

We strengthen and support you:

- in your competence and processes,
- in your leadership skills and role-effectiveness and
- in your decision making.

We support a wide range of target groups in three different business areas with different Business Issues. Benefit from our broadband experience and our consulting expertise and use our current service portfolio with the following main focuses:

MLS Management Strategy & Leadership

Unforeseeable economic development, uncertain geopolitical and sometimes volatile environmental conditions require a flexible understanding of strategy and organization. The advanced and practical knowledge of effective leadership principles, tasks and tools is essential. In order to develop these important topics in a robust and future-proof way, we offer elementary and extensive opportunities to generate customer benefits through the following key areas:

- Vision and Strategy development, implementation and tracking
- Development leadership culture with principles, tasks and instruments of effective leadership
- Optimization / adaptation of organizational structure and process organization
- Guiding with targets, target definition, tracking, and target review
- Methodical / procedural support in human resource management, and in human resources development as well
- other normative emphases.

MLS Management Methodic & Support

Product life cycles are getting shorter and shorter. The processualization of previously analogous processes is of fundamental importance in companies and organizations. Processual understanding, networked thinking and action are almost essential.

The consulting and support focus here is in integrated management systems and process models, as well as in the support of associated practice-oriented and sustainable process methodology such as:

- development of comprehensive process models,
- process definition, modeling of different Process levels (management, core and support processes) and their integration into existing management systems,
- process analysis and evaluation of potentials
- development / implementation of risk management systems,
- and other methodological support focuses
- as well as helpful templates in the areas strategy / organizational development, effective leadership-methodology and further administrative areas.

MLS Management Knowledge & Transfer

Knowledge is already one of the most important success factors today and will be the "raw material" for future generations. Knowledge alone can not and will not replace experience. The combination of both offers potential and future-oriented customer benefits. In this area, the focus is on the training and teaching of the necessary basic and advanced knowledge such as:

- Development and implementation of individual trainings and training concepts with special focus on: strategy, leadership, organization, process and project management and other subject areas.
- Lectures / knowledge transfer at congresses, conferences and various public and private educational institutions.
- Cross-media knowledge transfer of theoretical basics connected with high practical relevance and useability.
